

Untitled

McKaye Peterson, Grade 6

Boise

I have a pair of eyes between my shoulder blades. They can see things in 3D. And watch people do things they shouldn't do.

Those eyes put a lot of pressure on my shoulder blades so they are hunched together and oddly shaped.

Nothing can cover those eyes between my shoulder blades, not even eyelids. They see anything and everything like an owl on a dark night.

The only person worthy of knowing that fact is my sister. When I told her this she didn't even flinch. She just said "I know."

My dad's the president of the US, so I would never tell him. But he found out.

I don't know how or why but he did and decided to send me to this new planet that NASA had found. He didn't let me talk, just decided to send me away.

I had to climb a tree to get there. A Redwood tree. When I got there I was looking at a place just like Earth, with water and plants. But there were no aliens or humans ever there.

Then I looked through my special eyes and saw the grass tall and wide like the sky, in the sky.

Suddenly I heard growling and scratching noises through my eyes. I saw a park bench. And just as I was about to be eaten and smooshed between slobber and sharp teeth I snapped awake. I wasn't sweating or breathing hard but just to make sure, I checked my shoulder blades only to find a pair of eyes staring back at me.