

Zortan

Anabell Woodbury, Grade 6

Boise

A sky blue ocean is the first thing you see when you enter this world. Instead of the smell of rotting fish, the flowing water smells like vanilla ice cream. To your right, you see a desert. The sand is golden, and you can feel the heat rising from it. Your first step is taken with caution but to your surprise, the sand is soft and velvety.

No matter how long you walk, you never feel thirst. It must have been days since you last stopped walking, yet you never felt the need to stop. The creation of the world called this endless sea of sand the Desert of Time, no matter how long you walk, you are in the same minute you started.

You decide to head back to the ocean, where you can rest and listen to the calming sound of the crashing waves. Once you get there, you notice a rainforest. The smell of the rainforest is one of the most irresistible known to mankind: chocolate.

You can't resist. You enter a trance. The rainforest is where you want to be. Once you enter, you know why you smelt the chocolate as strong as you did. There is a waterfall of chocolate! Most people wouldn't expect a chocolate waterfall in a rainforest, but you saw it with your own eyes, and just to make sure you're not dreaming you want to taste it.

You dive into the warm, delicious chocolate and bathe in its flawlessness.

This world is amazing.